

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

FOR STATE TREASURER,
J. W. TATE,
OF FRANKLIN.

FOR STATE SENATE
HON. T. W. VARNON,
OF LINCOLN.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE
Dr. T. B. MONTGOMERY,
OF LINCOLN.

The members of the County Democratic Committee are requested to meet at my office on next Monday, at 11 o'clock A. M.

W. G. WELCH, Chairman.

THE LEGISLATIVE CANVASS.

We have not thought it necessary, heretofore, to make any appeal to the Democracy of the county, in behalf of Dr. T. B. Montgomery, who received the nomination for the office of representative in the next Legislature, nor in fact do we now. His election is a foregone conclusion, and the only possible question is, how large his majority will be. It is simply designed by this article to call attention to a very grave error, his opponent, Mr. Bobbitt, has fallen into in his harangue on the subject of the taxation of bank stock. Mr. Bobbitt is endeavoring, throughout the country, to create a prejudice against Dr. Montgomery, because he is the owner of bank stock, and has seen proper to tell the people, that this stock is not taxed as other property, and that if the Doctor should be elected, he would bend his energies to secure the continued exemption of bank stock from taxation; while he (Bobbitt) would advocate the repeal of this law which exempts this character of property from taxation.

Mr. Bobbitt has indulged himself for so long a period of time in self-education, both with respect to his legal and political learning; that we were slow to believe at first, that giving him credit for a reasonable share of veracity, he would have been so grossly ignorant as to make such a charge. For his especial enlightenment, we quote from the 2d Vol. of the Revised Statutes—a book which even he would concede was not published by the Stanford clique—which will give him the law on the subject of the taxation of bank stock, as it was at first:

ARTICLE II.
"SEC. 1. On bank stock, or stock in any moneyed corporation of loan or discount, fifty cents on each share thereof equal to one hundred dollars, or on each one hundred dollars of stock therein owned by individuals, corporations or societies."

ARTICLE X.
"SEC. 1. The cashier of a bank and the treasurer of any other institution where stock is taxed, shall, on the first day of July in each year, pay into the treasury the amount of tax due. If such tax be not paid, the cashier and his sureties shall be liable for the same, and twenty per cent. upon the amount, and the said bank or corporation shall thereby forfeit the privileges of its charter."

This law took effect from the time the Revised Statutes became the law of the land, to-wit: on the 1st day of July, 1852, and is up to this time in force, with reference to the taxation of the capital stock of any of the banks organized under the authority of this State.

"In 1867 the Legislature passed an act to tax the shares of capital in banks and banking associations, established under a law of the Congress of the United States, usually denominated National Banks. We quote from that act the substance of the first and second section:

"SEC. 1. That an annual tax, of not at a greater rate than is levied upon other moneyed capital in the hands of individuals citizens of this State, is assessed and levied on the shares of capital stock held by any person or body corporate in any bank or banking association, established under or doing business, or located within this Commonwealth, under the law of the Congress of the United States of America, usually denominated National Banks."

"SEC. 2. That the president, cashier, or other chief officer of any such bank or banking association, shall, by the 1st day of March each year, report to the Auditor of Public Accounts a true and correct list and statement of the names of each stockholder, the amount of stock held by each, and the par value of each share of the capital stock in any such bank or banking association, of which he is the president, cashier, or chief officer; and the auditor shall annually, by the 10th day of March in each year, notify the president, cashier, or other chief officer of any of said banks or banking associations, the amount of tax to be paid on the shares of the capital stock of such bank or banking association; and upon the payment of the amount to the State Treasurer, and the filing of his receipt therefor with the Auditor, he shall execute and deliver to the bank or banking association, a quietus for the tax on the shares herein depicted for that year, and the amount shall be charged to the Treasurer on account of the Banking Fund."

Section 3d of the same act furnishes a penalty for the failure of the president or cashier to report to the Auditor by the 1st day of March in each year, which consists of a forfeiture of five hundred dollars, to be recovered in the Franklin Circuit Court, with costs of suit, two per cent. damages, and a fine of fifty dollars to the Attorney General.

Section 4th provides that if such banks fail to pay the tax by the 22d day of March of each year, the Auditor shall certify the fact to the proper Assessor, whose duty it shall be to include in the tax list of each person, corporation, or partner, and thereupon each stockholder shall pay a tax of five cents upon the one hundred dollars more than he would have paid; had the bank promptly paid the tax previous to the 22d of March in each year.

But to assure Mr. Bobbitt that the National Banks of Stanford have promptly paid the taxes for which they are bound, we herewith give copies of receipts which were executed by the Auditor:

FRANKFORT, March 19th, 1873.
Received of J. B. Orville, Cashier, of the National Bank of Stanford, for State Tax 1873, on shares of stock of said bank, the sum of $114.38, under act 11th March, 1867.
(Signed) D. HOWARD SMITH, Auditor.

FRANKFORT, March 21st, 1873.
Received of John J. McRobert, Cashier, of the National Bank of Stanford, for State Tax 1873, on shares of stock of said bank, the sum of $114.38, under act 11th March, 1867.
(Signed) D. HOWARD SMITH, Auditor.

From the foregoing quotations of the act of 1867, and the receipts of the Auditor, the copies of which are herewith given, it is manifest that a distinction is made on the subject of taxation, in favor of the citizen, and against the National Banks in this, that the banks are required to pay the tax upon shares of stock in advance, while the citizen has the privilege of the fiscal year. But this State tax is not the only one to which the banks are subject, for they are required to pay as tax a certain per cent. on their deposits, and it there be an amount of capital stock in excess of the amount of the United States bonds which they have on deposit to secure circulation, they are required to pay a certain per cent. as tax on such excess. To illustrate: The Farmers' National Bank, of Stanford, pays semi-annually to the U. S. Government one-half of one per cent. on the circulation, or fifty cents on the hundred dollars semi-annually; one-fourth of one per cent. annually on its deposits, or twenty-five cents semi-annually on the hundred dollars of its deposits; and one-fourth of one per cent. semi-annually on $50,000, which is the excess of its capital stock over the bonds to secure circulation. In addition to this rate of taxation, there is an assessment of about $40 per annum to pay the expense of examiner's fees, town tax and other contingencies. A recapitulation of the assessments against this bank shows, that it pays annually to the United States and State Governments a tax of $72,79.96. As a matter of course the National Bank of Stanford is subjected to the same rate of taxation, except that it has United States bonds enough to secure its circulation, and is therefore not subjected to any assessment on the score of its having capital stock in excess of the amount of its bonds. Briefly stated, this bank pays to the two Governments an annual tax of $2,100.20. The aggregate taxation, therefore, of the two banks of Stanford, is $4,988.16.

If any one should take it upon himself to doubt this statement, the records of the banks are open to inspection. These facts present Mr. Bobbitt either in the light of a demagogue, who wilfully is guilty of misrepresentation, or of one who is too grossly ignorant to serve the people in the position to which he aspires. Being a free man, he is at liberty to choose either horn of the dilemma.

The New State of "Jackson."
(Hickman (Ky.) Courier.)

At a recent meeting of the Executive Committee of the Citizens' Union, steps were taken to hold a convention in this city on the 29th day of July for the purpose of discussing the question of forming a new State of West Kentucky, West Tennessee and North Mississippi, proper committees were appointed, and ample arrangements will be made to make the convention a grand success. The hospitality of the city is hereby extended to the delegates, and a large attendance solicited. Every editor in West Kentucky, West Tennessee and North Mississippi, is invited, whether friendly or not to the enterprise, and every town and community in the district mentioned, is requested to send delegates. The press in the district interested, is requested to publish the above facts.—Jackson (Tenn.) Plaindealer.

The movers of the new State are working that project into shape, and in a short time we shall see what will come of it. The close sympathy of West Kentucky for Western Tennessee and of North Mississippi for Western Tennessee, would cause a closer alliance to be hailed with approbation the very day our West Tennessee neighbors can demonstrate the project to be practicable and possible. We, who joined in the newspaper movement for the new State before the war, know something of the difficulties to be encountered. The Commonwealth of Kentucky will not willingly part with one foot of her territory, but will stubbornly oppose any movement in that direction, and we dare say Tennessee and Mississippi would confront us by like positions. Tennessee once made overtures to Kentucky for the cession of a small portion of West Kentucky, but our Central Kentucky stephenskins disdainfully refused to consider the proposition. We shall watch with interest the result of the Jackson Convention, heartily prepared for the alliance when a plan feasible and practicable shall be presented.

An insane man mowing grass in a Pennsylvania meadow, with three others, suddenly turned, and running his scythe through one of them, John Myer, killed him. The poor lunatic imagined that, as all flesh was grass, his companion ought to count as part of the hay crop.

Come To Grief.

In our last issue, we took occasion to notice very briefly Mr. Sneed's pretensions as a candidate for the Senate. We then ventured the prediction, that he would not receive fifty Democratic votes in the Senatorial district. This week has strengthened that conviction. It may now be safely assumed, that the only support he will receive, worth mentioning, will be from a portion of the Republican party in Boyle county. But even in that county, the better class of Republicans will stand aloof from him as they would from a candidate who was an avowed Democrat. Nor will the Republicans of Garrard or Lincoln take to him with any great show of appreciation. We come to these conclusions from what we have learned of the proceedings of the Republican Convention, which assembled in Stanford on Monday, the 7th inst. If we have been correctly informed, that convention, after mature deliberation, declined to make a nomination. What reason governed them in this matter, we are not able to say, unless it be that no one could be found who was willing to make the sacrifice necessarily attendant upon candidacy. After this conclusion had been arrived at, Messrs. Biddow and Goodloe, of Boyle, very urgently pressed the convention to recommend Mr. Sneed to the Republican party of the district. This failed to carry. Many of the members declared they would not "touch him with a forty-foot pole." They regarded him as neither Democrat nor Radical—a man who would sell out and betray any party for a proper consideration. What that consideration is, what its distinguishing feature is, whether estimable, as a counterbalancing in law from a good consideration, it is not our province to say. The only thing of which we are advised is, that it was thought he would sell out for a consideration. In this connection it is noticeable, that upon this point many Democrats agree with the members of the Republican Convention who talked so strangely of Col. Sneed.

Now it may be inquired, why were Goodloe and Biddow, of Boyle, so strongly in favor of recommending Col. Sneed to the Republicans of the district? We are sorry we cannot answer; but people will talk, and some folks say that the secret is found in this, that Biddow is a candidate in Boyle for representative; that he first persuaded Col. Sneed to be for him instead of McFerran, the Democratic candidate, although Col. Sneed is a professed Democrat. Having succeeded thus far, people go on to say, that Mr. Biddow persuaded Col. Sneed to become an independent candidate for the Senate, believing that the Col.'s candidacy would have the effect of inducing a few Democrats in Boyle to vote for him (Biddow) rather than McFerran. We note, by way of parenthesis, that Biddow is reported to be worth a good deal of money, and that he will spend it freely in his canvass. But, this simply by the way. Biddow's money has no grammatical connection with the subject whereof we write—that is, Col. Sneed's candidacy. We therefore resume, and inquire impartially, where will Col. Sneed get the votes to send him to Frankfort? The Radicals don't want him; the Democrats wouldn't have him, and in our benignity, we are constrained to commend him to the most gracious and merciful kindness of those innocents, who occasionally venture to whisper in a "still, small voice," that "both sides are wrong."

The most famous part of John Adams' speech, in favor of the Declaration, is, "I therefore conclude as I began." So, in order to give this little piece a fame, which the subject of it could not do, we conclude as we began—Come to Grief!

A MAY wicked as to one side the other day, and pulled out his pocket-book and whispered cautiously that he had something to make an editor glad. Our heart jumped and capered around us, but just couldn't fix the number of new subscribers. He handed us a little package and said it would explain itself. We slipped it into our pockets and squeezed his hand in grateful recognition, and made blue lines for our "den." We nervously jerked the wrappings, and found fourteen verses addressed to "My Dearson," signed "Adieu Forever." We loaded a double-barrel shot gun, and have put down a new load on top every four hours. There's a going to be some blood and clothes and stuffing mightily mixed up around this town before many days.—Glasgow Times.

THOUGH we do not speak by the card, we suspect that the actions of the Curators of the Central University in calling a meeting of the Alumni Association to change the location from Anchorage to Richmond, has in view final consolidation with old Centre College at that place. We understand that informal negotiations to that effect have been going on, and as the early re-union of the Northern and Southern Church is predicted by many, such consolidation may be effected. If the location is changed, it will be to the great disappointment of Louisville and Anchorage, and against their earnest protest.—Courier.

SINCE the abolition of the franking privilege, the 1st instant, there has been a marked decrease in the amount of mail matter passing through the New York post-office. The postmaster says the reform has caused a falling off of 18,000 feet of newspaper exchanges during the week.

A True Blue!

"We do not desire to throw cold water on the chances of Col. Varnon in the present canvass for the State Senate."—Courier (Ky.) News.

You do not! Then why, since the nomination of Col. Varnon, have you constantly exerted your influence to defeat him? Why have you turned your paper into a manufactory of Radical capital in the district? Why have you persistently asserted that the Democracy of this district were indifferent to the election of Varnon, when the statement is not only wanting in truth, but the very opposite of truth? Why, in the same article in which you make this protest, do you lay your enthusiastic devotion at his feet, upon the condition that he would withdraw, "and allow the field to some gentleman upon whom a majority of the party can unite?" Is the field the majority of the Democracy in this district—or does the overwhelming balance of power rest with the sore-head whose small malice creeps out in the columns of the News?

This lip service offered to the Democratic party is sickening! If there is really that apathy in the party that the News parades, why, as a Democratic paper, does it not seek to arouse the party from it, rather than encourage the inertia?

In this contest, we assume that the issue is not between Varnon and Sneed, or Varnon and any other man. It is a contest between two political parties, the principles and measures of which are mutually antagonistic. We know Mr. Varnon, at this time, only as the exponent or representative of the Democratic party. He received his credentials from the same power which the News and its sore-head courted, and which they conceded to be potent for the purpose for which it was called together. Now, if the News is a Democratic paper, it is a traitor in the camp. If it is neutral in politics, it is dabbling in matters which do not concern it, and it is not thanked for its gratuitous advice.

But to conclude this matter, without further interrogations or hypothesis, we assert that it is not true, that there is either disaffection in the district, worthy of mention, or apathy on account of disaffection. We assert that Varnon will defeat Sneed by himself, or Sneed with a Radical candidate, or Sneed, a Radical candidate, and the News throws in—to fill up vacant orders.

Lincoln county will give him four hundred majority.

Draw that through your teeth!
